This colossal temple, covering an area of 1.6 sq. km, is surrounded by a vast moat. Built in the 12th century, it was dedicated to Lord Vishnu by the god-king Suryavarman II.

As you explore, you'll discover the five towering spires symbolizing Mount Meru, the mythical abode of Hindu gods. The outer galleries showcase some of the finest and best-preserved bas-reliefs in Khmer art.

Our next venture is Ta Prohm, a place where nature and history merge. Here, the jungle has reclaimed the ancient structures, with massive tree trunks intertwining with the stone ruins. After an eventful morning, it's time for a well-deserved lunch.

Our afternoon adventure takes us to Banteay Srei, a gem located about 25 km from the central Angkor area. Built in the 10th century, it's dedicated to the Hindu deity Lord Shiva and known for its rare pink sandstone and exquisite ornamental carvings.
